Happy Holidays!

The holidays are a season of connection, reflection, and beauty—values that lie at the heart of my artistic practice. As a representational painter, my work is rooted in crafting pieces that resonate emotionally, inviting you to explore narratives of shared and personal meaning. Each painting, artisanal print, and custom commission is made with care, offering you the opportunity to bring art into your life or to share it as a meaningful gift with those you love.

In this catalogue, you'll find a curated selection of works designed to spark joy and connection, from original paintings to unique prints and thoughtful gift ideas. Whether you're an avid collector or just beginning your journey with art, my goal is to provide pieces that inspire and resonate, transforming your spaces and enriching your traditions.

This holiday season, let's celebrate the beauty of art as a bridge—connecting us to one another and to the stories that make us who we are.

Thank you for inviting my art into your life. It's a gift I never take for granted.

As always, creatively yours ~ Linda

Linda Chido is a representational painter with master's degrees in Architecture and Urban Planning from the University of Buffalo, NY. She studied the Mische Technique under artists Philip Rubinov Jacobson and Michael Fuchs. In addition to her work as an artist, Linda is a mother, teacher, writer, and advocate dedicated to making art accessible, particularly to underserved communities. She and her artist family are based in Austin, TX.

Artist Statement

I am an American-born, Austin-based representational painter with deep roots in the visionary realism art movement. My paintings are crafted using the Mische Technique, a meticulous layering process reinterpreted and taught by Austrian artist Ernst Fuchs and rooted in the traditions of the Old Masters. Working alternatively between oil glazes and white egg tempera, I create luminous interplays of pearlescent grays and vibrant colors that bring depth and life to each painting.

In my work, I transform introspections, vivid dreams, and experiences that linger, into dreamscapes that blend portraiture, landscapes, and my imagination into a unified vision. Guided by both the discipline of my technique and the depth of my inner world, I strive to authentically capture the beauty of my subjects and their emotive resonance.

I believe deeply, that all art has the power to connect us. For me, painting is a quiet dialogue between the layers of my process and layers of my life. Yet, once complete, each painting becomes an invitation and offers a space for others to find their own meaning and connection. My intension is for my paintings to bridge the spaces between us and remind us that we are more alike than different.
